A LATE SESSION.

The Railroad Franchise Causes Warm Discussion in Council.

that offers were liberal on the part of the company, as it really made no difference to them as to the switching from the east or from the west. The elimination of the tracks from the principal streets was a point to be considered in the matter.

A protest against the granting of the franchise, signed by a number of prominent citizens and taxpayers, was read.

Mr. Ellenwood spoke in behalf of the several signers of the protest against the franchise. He said that although the ordinance sounded nice and Mr. Dale's statements in regard to it sounded well, there were many objectionable features that should receive careful attention before the ordinance was voted upon. He stated that on December 12, 1889, franchise was granted to the Union Terminal Company and in it was an agreement to fill Butler street between Second and Third and to maintain a carriage way on the south side of the track. The conditions of that ordinance have been completely disregarded; it is unwise to give one foot more to a corporation than is absolutely necessary; that while it is necessary for the railroad to cross streets and such rights should be regarded, it was an exception to give them the right to traverse a main thoroughfare of the city. Two years ago the railroad company purchased a lot on Third street under peculiar circumstances, with the desire and purpose to do switching between Second and Third in order to avoid doing such work on Front street. They have failed to do this and now come asking for a franchise to put their tracks beyond Fourth street, thus blocking one of the thoroughfares of the city. The C. & M. switching together with that of the B. & O. S. W. would almost cause the abandonment of Fourth street as a thoroughfare. Mr. Ellenwood gave many other reasons for the opposition to the franchise.

A. D. Follett, representing the B. & O. S. W., replied to Mr. Ellenwood's argument and gave as reasons for the granting of the franchise that considerable property would be rendered more valuable by the improvements which would be brought about, especially by the filling on Butler street; the business men want railroads as convenient as possible; the switching on Front street would be discontinued and the Second street track taken up. For these and other reasons Mr. Follett advocated the granting of the franchise.

Several other gentlemen spoke in behalf of the different phases of the question, and then Mr. Wood made an eloquent address, championing the cause of the franchise and giving a complete history of the entire question so far as he, during his four years of financial loss in serving as a member of the Railroad committee had been able to learn. His principal argument was that the track on Second street ran along in front of fifteen business houses, while the extension would not worry anybody in particular but Mr. J. Alderman. After giving these gentlemen a gentle rub, Wood passed to the college, which was given a regular "now-will-you-be-god" setting down. He then spent some time in telling how much he had done in the way of subscriptions to the College and other public institutions, and stated that since he had been a member of the City Council he had spent hundreds of dollars for the good of the city and had never received a cent. He wound up his discourse by an attack on the city press.

After Wood's speech, Strain moved that the ordinance be passed to its second reading by title only. The motion carried, and the ordinance passed to third reading by title only. Then the motion was made to put ordinance upon its passage and the discussion was again taken up. The matter was reviewed from both sides, and in response to some objection Mr. Brinson authorized a change in the ordinance, whereby the fill at each side of the track was to be 30 feet wide instead of 20 feet. Then after some further discussion, Davis said that he thought the matter should be carried over to the next meeting, in order to allow members time to give the matter proper consideration, and a short argument ensued.

The motion to put the ordinance upon its passage was withdrawn and the motion to postpone for one week prevailed, at which time Strain voted against. This settled the matter for the session.

An ordinance to provide for the redemption of $90,000 worth of water works bonds by the issue of new bonds was read, but after a short discussion the matter was carried over and will be the subject for consideration at a meeting to be held this evening.

"His Better Half."

"His Better Half." What a capital title to give a farce comedy. It is not only suggestive, but implies a meaning concerning which there has been many a humorous misunderstanding. But there can be no such misunderstanding about the farce. "His Better Half" the object for which the title is given will strike anybody who attends the performance at the Auditorium to-night as being applicable to a highly funny degree, and the complications arising out of it will not so readily be forgotten by those who know how to appreciate a whole quantity of merri-lot on Third street under peculiar circumstances, with the desire and purpose to do switching between Second and Third in order to avoid doing such work on Front street. They have failed to do this and now come asking for a franchise to put their tracks beyond Fourth street, thus blocking one of the thoroughfares of the city. The C. & M. switching together with that of the B. & O. S. W. would almost cause the abandonment of Fourth street as a thoroughfare. Mr. Ellenwood gave many other reasons for the opposition to the franchise.

"Under the Red Robe."

"Better than the 'Prisoner of Zenda'" was the opinion of the eminent critic of the New York Herald in review of "Under the Red Robe" that is to be seen here at the Auditorium Thanksgiving day for matinee and night. This is not to be wondered at for Edward Rose dramatized both successes for stage purposes. "Under the Red Robe" being his later work. It is most reasonable to expect better results. Both plays are costumed plays of a romantic order. "Under the Red Robe" treats of the days of Louis XIII and Richelieu. The drama is to be mounted here in the most sumptuous manner; all its scenery and beautiful effects used during its great run at the Empire Theatre, New York, will be used here. The principal role will be acted here by the eminent romantic actor, Paul Cazenave, who for years was a star appearing in the legitimate drama. In "Under the Red Robe" Mr. Cazenave has reached the height of his professional career. Seats at Gates news stand. L. M. LUCHS, Mgr.

State Campaign Expenses.

Columbus, O., Nov. 27.--The statements of the Republican and Democratic state campaign committees were filed at the office of the county clerk this afternoon as required by law. The Republican committee expended according to its report, $91,123.37. The largest outlay was in the conduct of the literary bureau, which furnished every daily and weekly newspaper in the state with plate service and cartoons during the campaign. Among the principal items of expense were the following: Lithographs, badges, and buttons, $3,219. Press bureau, $1,454. Expense for committee, $2,089. Newspapers, $3,571; miscellaneous bills, $1,750; postage and revenue stamps, $6,941. Clerk hire, $9,048. Plate matter, $7,824. Printing and stationery, $20,841. Speakers' bureau, $1,921. Organization, $3,848. Express and freight, $2,205. Service expense, $3,114. County committees, $15,612.

The Democratic state committee reports receipts of $18,149.55 and expenditures $17,998.53. It is generally known that this committee merely played politics and that the real Democratic campaign was carried on by McLean and his henchmen from the Broad street residence. It is believed he spent a million dollars but he totally ignores the Garfield law, requiring a sworn statement of candidates' expenditures and is liable to $1000 fine.

CLAIMS AN INTEREST

In Twenty-four Thousand Acres of Valuable Oil Territory.

John Garber was in the city Saturday, consulting with his attorney, W. B. Archer, of this city, in reference to a block of 24,000 acres of oil and gas leases in Lewis county, said to cover a large portion, if not all, of the prospective oil territory of that county. These leases, it is claimed, were taken up in 1889, 1890 and 1891 by Ira Dewitt while he and Mr. Garber were operating together.

Large blocks of leases were taken in this way in the counties of Ritchie, Calhoun, Clay, Gilmer and Lewis. The leases were turned over by Dewitt to Garber to be disposed of, but were not sold.

In 1894 Mr. Dewitt, it is claimed by Mr. Garber went to Virginia and demanded possession of these leases. Garber refused to deliver them unless a written agreement was entered into, showing the interest which Garber had as the leases were taken in the name of Dewitt. Dewitt then entered into a written contract, whereby he granted to Garber the one-half interest in whatever leases, he, Dewitt, held in Roane, Calhoun and Ritchie. The agreement was written out by Dewitt himself, signed and witnessed by two witnesses. The agreement was made on the last page of a ledger, and was not found by Mr. Garber until Friday or Saturday of last week.

Garber has pending in the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of West Virginia, a suit against Dewitt, claiming a one-half interest in the Barnes lease on Whiskey Run in Ritchie county, upon which lease there is a valuable producing well and large gas well.

Garber has served notice upon the defendants, Dewitt and the South Penn Oil Co., of a motion to file an amended bill in that cause setting up the contract. This motion will be heard on the 4th of December, at which time a motion for a receiver for the Barnes lease will be made before a Judge of the United States Court.

Barber is now recording his contract in the counties of Ritchie and Lewis. The leases in Lewis county are alleged to be very valuable, one-half interest having been, by Dewitt turned over to the South Penn in consideration of its paying the rentals. The leases were taken upon the terms that the lessee was to bore a well on some of the leases within seven years or thereafter pay a rental of ten cents per acre, and were taken for a twenty year term. The South Penn Oil Co., it is alleged, has been paying the rentals, and as the Lewis county developments have made that the center of attraction for new development, Garber's contract has become very valuable.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts are Brought Home to Us and by our Neighbors too They Are Mariaetta Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a nation. In matters worthy of investigation we want real, tangible facts, not hearsay. The word of those we know, the nearly evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say: "You have had some experience with o-and-so; what do you think of it?" and his answer: "Just the thing; I know because I have tried it." It goes to a long way in helping our decision. This is always the case with Don's Kidney Pills. Everybody who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you: "They are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in Marietta and are ready to tell you or anyone enquiring.

Mr. Wm. Green, of 400 Harman street Foreman of the Painting Department at Kelly's Carriage Works, says: "I was troubled with my kidneys after I started to work at painting, and I had to take medicines all the time to counteract the effect of the chemicals used. I had backache, sharp stinging pains in the loins, my back aching and I had to stop work. I read of them in the papers and took a box of W. W. Steyer's drug store on Front street. I don't think I gave them a fair trial for I worked in the paint room while taking them, yet in spite of that they gave me prompt relief. They produced no bad results while taking them, and I can from experience recommend them as a remedy which can be depended upon if the kidneys are out of order."

A Young Girl's Experience.

My daughter's nerves were terribly out of order. She was thin and weak; the least noise startled her, and she was wakeful at night. She had taken cod liver oil, but it did not help her. She had been told that Celery King would help her, and she bought a bottle. She took it for a few days, and she felt better. She was able to sleep at night, and she was no longer so nervous. She was able to do her school work, and she was able to play with her friends. She was able to eat and drink, and she was able to live. She was able to be a young girl again.

THE CENTURY

MAGAZINE In 1900

Novelty in Literary and Art Features.

PRINTING IN COLOR.

THE BEST ILLUSTRATIONS, with Cole's Engravings and Castaigne's Drawings.

A New and Superbly Illustrated

Life of Cromwell

By the Right Hon. John Morley, M. P.

THE conductors of The Century take especial pleasure in announcing this as the leading literary serial of the magazine in 1900. No man is more competent than John Morley, who was selected by Mr. Gladstone's family to write the "History of the Commonwealth of Cromwell" in the spirit of the nineteenth century. THE ILLUSTRATIONS will be unsurpassed. Besides original drawings, there will be valuable unpublished portraits lent by Her Majesty the Queen and by the owners of the greatest Cromwell collections. Other features include: "The Biography of a Grizzly," a story of the life of a grizzly bear, by the author of "Wild Animals I Have Known"; "Parks, Illustrated by Castaigne. A series of papers for the Exposition Universelle, 1900. Whistling, under the name of "No. 3 John Street," splendidly illustrated with more than sixty pictures by the famous artist Castaigne, including views of the Paris Exposition.

London, Illustrated by Phil May. A series of papers on the East End of London, by Walter Besant, with pictures by Phil May and Joseph Pennell.

Sailing Alone Around the World. The record of a voyage of 46,000 miles undertaken single-handed and alone in a 40-foot boat. A most delightful biography of the sea.

The Author of "Hugh Wynne," Dr. S. West Mitchell, will furnish a short serial of remarkable psychological interest, "The Autobiography of a Quack," and there will be short stories by all the leading writers.

A Chapter From Mark Twain's Abandoned Autobiography.

Literary Reminiscences. Familiar accounts of Tennyson, Browning, Lowell, Emerson, Bryant, Whittier, and Holmes.

Important Papers by Governor Theodore Roosevelt, President Eliot of Harvard University, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Woodrow Wilson, John Burroughs, and others.

American School History.

A series of papers of commanding history.

THE ART WORK OF THE CENTURY.

It is everywhere conceded that THE CENTURY has led the world in the production of unique and beautiful wood blocks will continue to be a feature, with the work of many other engravers who have made the American school famous. The half-tone plates, re-engraved by good engravers for which the magazine is distinguished, will appear with new methods of printing and illustrating.
